

Contributed by: Nurul Salwanie Che Wahid (salwanie@apbionet.org)

CALL FOR PAPER INCOB2019, JAKARTA INDONESIA

The conference will be hosted for the first time in Indonesia. InCoB 2019 will be co-located with the Annual General Meeting of the Global Organisation for Bioinformatics Learning, Education and Training (GOBLET), Genomic Medicine Conference (GMC) and South East Asian Pharmacogenomics Research Network (SEAPharm) meeting.

These four events promise a rare opportunity for scientific discourse. InCoB 2019 will include presentation of original research results, discussion in plenary sessions, poster sessions, software demos and panel discussions related to the field of bioinformatics.

Visit the conference website at : www.incob2019.org

BID FOR INCOB2020 IS OPEN NOW

Bid for the International Conference on Bioinformatics (InCoB) 2020 is now open. Are you an organiser interested in hosting our conference?

Complete the form or submit your application to sec@apbionet.org directly using the template for review by the APBioNet Conferences Committee and/or Executive Committee.

Read more on the guideline here: <http://bit.ly/InCoB>

APPLY FOR INCOB2019 TRAVEL FELLOWSHIP NOW

APBioNet and ISCB members are welcomed to apply for financial support worth maximum of USD 500 to attend this year's conference.

Interested applicants may read more on the guidelines on the conference website: <https://incob2019.org/>

SUCCESS OF INSYB2018, PERDANA UNIVERSITY

The symposium featured 13 oral presentation, 2 keynote talks, 4 plenary talks, 23 poster presentations and two workshop sessions, namely "Genome Analysis" and "Structural Bioinformatics 101". InSyB2018 received participation of close to 100 delegates from both local and neighboring countries. This particular installment witnessed several other highlights – Memorandum of Understanding between MyBioInfoNet (<http://www.mybioinfor.net>) and APBioNet; and the Annual General Meeting of the Malaysian Society of Bioinformatics and Computational Biology (MaSBiC). See photos from the Symposium here:

www.incob2019.org

International Conference on Bioinformatics 2019

“Bioinformatics for Precision Medicine”

Jakarta, Indonesia. September 10-12, 2019

Prof Adrian Hill
Oxford University, UK

Prof Sir Munir Pirmohamed
Liverpool University, UK

Prof Katsushi Tokunaga
University of Tokyo, Japan

Prof Christine Orengo
University College London

Prof Stuart Ray
Johns Hopkins University

Dr Denis Bauer
CSIRO, Australia

CALL FOR PAPERS
Submit by :
March 31, 2019

Participating journals:

- ◆ - BMC Genomics
- ◆ - BMC Bioinformatics
- ◆ - GigaScience
- ◆ - BMC Medical Genomics
- ◆ - BMC System Biology
- ◆ - PeerJ
- ◆ - Bioinformatics
- ◆ - Computational Biology and Chemistry

GET IN touch!

EMAIL committee@incob2019.org
WEBSITE www.incob2019.org

co-organised by :
YARSI Research Institute
Faculty of Medicine
Faculty of Information Technology

BECOME AN APBIONET MEMBER TODAY

TRAVEL FELLOWSHIPS

Eligibility to apply for APBioNet Travel Fellowships

DISCOUNTS

Discounts on APBioNet Conference, symposium, workshops and other events
Discounts on APBioNet merchandise and publications

APBioNet MEMBER BENEFITS:
Visit www.apbionet.org to know more

MAILING LIST

Notifications and regular updates on APBioNet activities as well as attractive offers and opportunities for participation in selected activities of interest

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Eligibility to represent APBioNet at key meetings, AGM and events as official delegates